IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of our dear one, Donald Wayne Pugh ("Duckie") who was killed on Halloween night, seven years ago, October 31, 1970.

Seven years ago today,
you left us.
At the age of 23 when your life had just begun.
You were suddenly taken away,
Time goes on but you don't forget.
The one you loved is now at peace
Sadly missed by Mother, Brother and Sisters,
10-27-1t

In memory of Charles Mayberry (Charlie Brown) who passed away 3 years ago November 1, 1977.
On the wings of death and sorrow
God sends us new hope for tomorrow—
And in His mercy and His grace,
He gives us strength to bravely face
The lonely days that stretch ahead
And know our loved one is not dead—
But only sleeping and out of our sight
And we'll meet in that land "WHERE THERE IS NO-NIGHT."
Greatly missed by family and friends.
10-27-1p

In loving memory of Robert P. Lawhorn, who departed this life 4 years ago, October 30, 1973.
God gave me strength and courage to meet the blow,
But what it meant to lose you no one will ever know.
I still have sweet memories, and often call your name.
Life is hard to bear without you And will never be the same
So sleep on dear loved one, we know you are at rest.
We loved you so much but God loved you best.
Sadly missed by wife and children. 10-27-1p

Card of Thanks

We would like to thank our friends and neighbors for the kind expressions of sympathy shown us during our recent bereavement.

VA Questions & Answers

EDITOR'S NOTE: Following are respresentative questions answered daily by VA counselors. Full information is available at any VA office.

Q - If a widow dies with a previous month's uncashed VA pension check in her possession, what should be done with the check?

A - It should be returned to the issuing office. It may subsequently be paid upon submission of a valid claim by a survivor or other eligible person.

Q - I've already bought a burial plot in a private cemetery. Will VA pay my widow the "plot allowance" when I die?

A - Yes, your survivors are still eligible to receive the $150 plot allowance in addition to up to $250 in basic burial allowance. Payment up to $800 may be made when death is service-connected.

Q - I was disabled in World War II and the Veterans Administration gave me $1,600 toward the purchase of an automobile in 1949. Now that this allowance has been increased to $3,300, am I entitled to the difference on another car?

A - No, but VA may assist in providing or maintaining adaptive equipment on your present or future cars. See your nearest VA office.

Q - What is the interest rate for a VA home loan?

A - The maximum interest rate on GI home loans may vary due to changes in the law and VA regulations. For the current rate, contact the VA or a lender participating in the VA loan program.

Q - I was wounded in Korea in 1952 but never filed a claim with the VA. I am now having problems with my leg. Is it too late to file a claim now?

A - You may file a claim for service-connection any time. If the medical records of the branch of the armed forces you were in show evidence of this disability, you may be entitled to compensation. The date of the application is the earliest date you may be paid compensation for this disability under the conditions cited.

Q - I am the 18-year-old son of a veteran who has a 60 percent service - connected disability. Am, I eligible for Vetrans Administration educaitonal benefits?

A - Only children of veterans who suffered permanent, total disabilities or who died from service - connected causes, or children of military service personnel missing in action or prisoners of war for more than 90 days are eligible for education benefits.

Q - I am a World War II veteran who has never used my GI home loan benefits. Am, I still eligible?

A - This benefit is available without time limits on its use to veterans of World War II and later periods since the enactment of the Veterans Housing Act of 1970.

Eating Well

Today, we see the terms Gerontology and Geriatrics used when referring to the aging process or to elderly people. Gerontology is the scientific study dealing with the psychological, sociological, economic, and physiological, as well as the medical aspects, of aging. Geriatrics is the branch of medicine concerned with the care of the aging, as well as the aged, is concerned with prolonging the prime of life, delaying the onset of severely degenerative aspects of aging and treating the diseases of the aged.

Both of these areas have had a surge of activity because of the increase in both the total numbers and proportion of the population who are living beyond retirement age. In the USA, life expectancy has increased from 48 years in 1900 to 64 for women and 64 for men. Those persons 65+ number 21,815,000, more than 10% of the population. By 1980, this number will be over 23,000,000. Medical and social scientists are concerned with adding life to years as well as years to life. In Virginia, there are 603,400 people 60+, 12% of Virginia's total population. With this number of elderly citizens, we must motivate them to eat nutritionally adequate diets. With the extension of life, this means more complications of aging, both physiological and psychological.

Aging is a process which varies from person to person. The rate of aging is influenced by heredity, by the use and abuse of the body, including injuries, infections, stresses, fatigues, nutritional imbalances, and emotional trauma associated with them. Since the nutritional status of a person at any age is a reflection of his previous, as well as his present dietary habits, it is suggested that the best time to prepare for a healthy and active "old age" begins in the office of the podiatrician.

The nutritional requirements of the older person are similar to those that were required at 25 years or less of age - with the Exception of Calories. The daily calorie intake will depend on the person's age, sex, and activity. Usually the older person's intake will be between 1500 and 2000 calories. For additional information about nutrition for the elderly write to:
